

Making the most of your micro.

The logo for Micronet 800 is enclosed in a white rectangular border with a slightly rounded bottom. The word "micronet" is written in a red, lowercase, pixelated font. Below it, the number "800" is written in a light blue, uppercase, pixelated font.

micronet 800

Welcome to Micronet 800.

You can now join the thousands of subscribers who are benefitting from this unique system.

Micronet 800 is brought to your computer and monitor via Prestel through your telephone line.

The Micronet system is an ever-changing one, improving and up-dating its features continually. The following pages give a flavour of some of the current items available to you.

They fall into three broad categories: Information, Communication and Software. We will take you around the system and show you examples in each sector.

There are 30,000 pages of facts, figures and fun to explore and it's growing all the time.

So, make the most of your micro with Micronet 800.

GETTING TO KNOW MICRONET 800.

The Micronet 800 system is displayed on your monitor screen or television set. It's controlled by your micro which acts as an intelligent terminal when receiving Micronet.

We'd like to stress here and now that you don't have to own or possess the most sophisticated micro-technology to enjoy the system.

Anyone with a home computer and a suitable modem can sit back in the comfort of their armchair and travel through Micronet's vast menu of 30,000 pages of information, software and communications facilities.

The pages are stored on eight mainframe computers around the country and are made available to you via Prestel, your 'phone line and a modem unit (which we'll explain about later.)

If you're not already aware, Prestel is British Telecom's viewdata service which operates through the telephone network.

This puts you 'on-line' to Micronet 800 directly. In your own home. Simple as that.

From here on in you can wander through the system to you heart's content.

EXPLORING THE SYSTEM AT YOUR LEISURE.

What's so nice about Micronet 800 is that you don't have to be a genius to operate anything. Very simply your micro acts as a keyboard. You tap yourself into the main menu (a list of services). Then, using the keyboard, select the service you require.

And when you're using the system we provide alternative key instructions at the bottom of each page so you can move around at your leisure.

Nothing could be easier.

THE COST OF MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR MICRO.

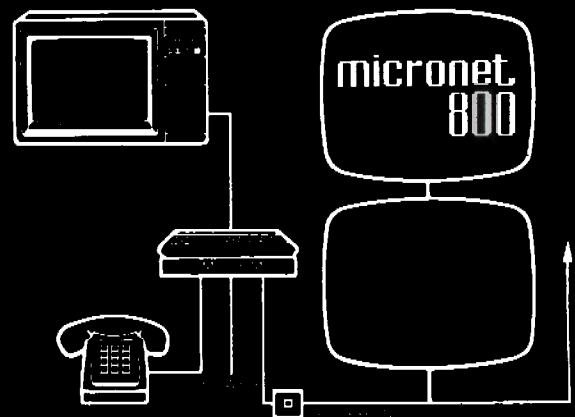

Subscription to Micronet costs just £13 a quarter for domestic users (which works out at just £1 a week) and this includes all that Prestel and Prestel Microcomputing has to offer you, too. A business subscription costs £24.50 a quarter.

You will also incur the usual telephone charges for time you are on line to the system.

Almost everyone can call Micronet and Prestel at a local rate (dial 100 and ask for Freefone Prestel Service to check your area) - during off-peak periods (that's after 6pm and at the weekend) charges are only 20p per hour.

Connection to Micronet is free except 8am - 6pm weekdays and 8am - 1pm on Saturdays when you will be charged at 5p a minute. Most subscribers use the system during the evening or at weekends, English Bank holidays are also free.

You can get Sinclair, BBC micro and Commodore 64 software from the system and load it directly into your micro's memory (this is called downloading) for immediate use or storage on cassette or disk. If you download paid-for software this will be included in your quarterly bill, just like a credit card.

As you see, for the vast majority of subscribers the running costs are very low.

So, in normal use, after setting up the modem (and a British Telecom PST socket where necessary), Micronet 800 will cost only £1 per week plus 20p 'phone charges for every 1/2 hour you are connected.

Naturally, downloaded software and Prestel connect time will be charged only where applicable.

WHAT IS A MODEM

Basically it is the interface between your 'phone line and your micro.

The modem and its specialised software converts Prestel's electronic code into a language your computer understands, which is then displayed on your monitor.

Your 'phone links into the modem and is used to call up Micronet whenever you wish. You cannot connect to Micronet 800 without a modem. Costs will vary by micro and modem type.

YOU CAN'T BEAT THE SYSTEM.

All in all, the unique Micronet 800 system is a major breakthrough in micro-technology. And is equally useful for the new micro-user as well as the enthusiast.

It will help you keep up-to-date on the latest computer developments; help you decide on which software is best for you and give you instant access to it via the downloading facility.

It will also give access to a huge library of other services and information on Prestel.

The beauty of Micronet is that you can send as well as receive information (unlike Teletext) so you'll have help with questions on Micronet or with computing in general. And it lets you share the learning and problem solving process with the thousands of other subscribers on the system.

In fact, you can't beat the Micronet 800 system for making the most of your micro.

Information

MAKING THE MOST OF INFORMATION.

Micronet gives you access to the very latest computer news, reviews and analysis - by our own team of critics and journalists.

It brings you a vast user magazine for Sinclair, Acorn, Apple and Commodore machines which is up-dated daily.

The system has a comprehensive reference source for product comparisons, software reviews, and appraises the best buys from your point of view.

Enter the revolutionary world of arm-chair shopping. Select products and services - from leading retailers like Debenhams and Spectrum Computer Group - check prices and even in some cases, order what you want direct from your keyboard. All this in a matter of seconds.

Key into all that Prestel has to offer: tens of thousands of pages giving instant world news, sports reports, holiday, hotel, rail and airline information, restaurant, theatre and film guides.

Join Homelink - the world's first home banking service - and Citiservice - the stock-market and financial database. Remember many of these services can be booked at the touch of a key.

For information, Micronet 800's advantages are second to none. Every time you connect you're on-line to a vast spectrum of reference material. Anytime day or night.

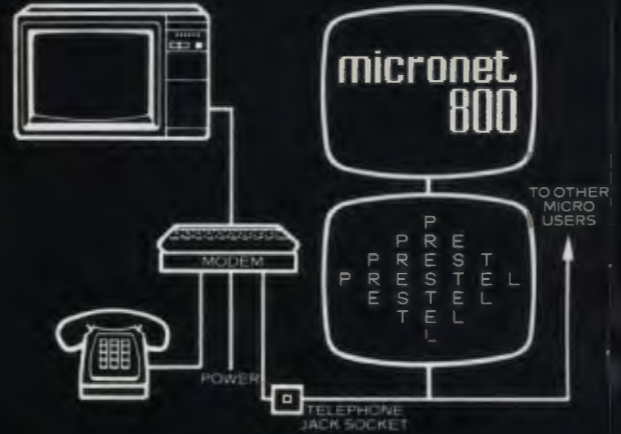

Over the page are just a few examples of Micronet's information features which include programming courses, the latest news - weeks before you'll read it in computer magazines - and our top fifty.

Clive: exclusive interview 12:1:84

Micronet: Can I ask what is the significance of the launch of the QL to the average home user?

Clive Sinclair: Well, many home users will find a Spectrum meets their needs but more advanced users will find they need the QL's professional features - the word-processor, the spread-sheet & of course, the built-in Microdrives.

What's the most significant feature of the QL in your opinion?

It's a 32-bit machine. That's the big change; beyond that it's a

The announcement of £2 software from a small London company is causing consternation amongst our more established software houses.

Latest to express shock/horror is one Derek Meakin, oop-North publisher of The  Micro User, organiser of many a computer show, and owner of Optima S/w.

Our Derek reckons that cut-price progs will bring about a slide into mediocrity of the software industry, and points to the example of Liverpool-based Imagine Software - whose recent bizarre carryings-on included the

Quality Software

MAKING THE MOST OF SOFTWARE.

Here's where the fun and games really begin on the system.

You can build your software collection by downloading a wide selection of games and serious software absolutely free from our Aladdin's Cave.

You can download other programs from leading publishers such as: Bug Byte, Ocean, DK Tronics, Micro Aid and MRM at up to 20% off High Street prices - we simply debit your account accordingly and you can check the review before you buy.

Try taking over the galaxy on 'Starnet' the first interactive strategy game where you play against over 500 other subscribers and our mainframe.

Then there's "The Hobbit" or "The Quill." Just a few of the scores of programs on offer. What's more, because Micronet is constantly up-dating so is the software. Giving you an infinite choice over the years.

Naturally, there's the pick of educational and household programs, such as 'O' Level science and text processing software.

The Head Start section brings you a home educational service for children and, soon, "School Link" will provide specialised educational software and editorial.

Everything's available directly and instantly from the Micronet 800 system.

Shown overleaf are just a few of the programs available to you.

Software Review: The Hobbit

Review By Robert Schilfreen

By: Melbourne House Price: £12.70

Never before, in the field of Spectrum software, has a program received so much acclaim by so many.

First released over a year ago this mega-game was an instant success with purchasers and reviewers alike.

There was initially some doubt as to whether Spectrum owners would be willing to pay nearly £15 for a game, but there was no need to worry; it was a hit. And now that it's available...
